WARNINGS AND RESPONSE

Natural Warnings

- In case of:
1. A large earthquake (one it's hard to stand up in), unusual noises from the ocean, or
  2. Changes in the ocean (e.g. the ocean rushing in or out), or
  3. Feeling a weak earthquake that lasts for a minute or more
- Do this:
4. Evacuate ALL zones. A wave may arrive within minutes or take more than an hour to arrive
  5. Wait for the official "all clear" or advice from local Civil Defence.

Official Warnings

The official warning source is local Civil Defence. These warnings may come to you via NZ media or emergency services. You may receive warnings from several sources.

Evacuate from the zone(s) stated in the warning message. Wait for the official "all clear" or advice from local Civil Defence.

Informal Warnings

Warnings from friends, other members of the public or international media may be correct. If you feel the threat is imminent, quickly get to high ground. Consider evacuating from all zones. Verify the warnings only once evacuated, unless you can check quickly without being delayed (via NZ media broadcasts, local Civil Defence and emergency services).

TSUNAMI EVACUATION

Move as quickly as possible inland or to high ground. Follow signed routes where present.

Walk quickly if possible, drive only if essential. If driving, keep going once you are well outside of all evacuation zones, to allow room for others behind you.

The first waves may not be the largest.

Large waves may come after a series of small waves. The largest waves from distant sources may take many hours to arrive.

There may be multiple waves separated by up to an hour or more.

Stay out of evacuation zones until given the official "all clear" from local Civil Defence.

Stay away from the Red Zone (shore exclusion) for 24 hours after any tsunami warning - even small waves can be dangerous.

Please note:

- > The margins of evacuation areas are indicative and are not specific to property level.
- > Evacuation information is not available for the west coastline of Tasman District.
